The Arkansas Department of Environmental Quality (“ADEQ”) announced the Division for Enterprise Development is co-sponsoring a seminar addressing “Pollution Prevention and Lean Principles Training” (“Seminar”).

The Seminar will be held September 17-18 at the Butler Center in Little Rock, Arkansas.

ADEQ states that the course will provide an opportunity to:

. . . improve the efficiency of your organization through the elimination of pollutants and the application of lean principles within an environmental management system.

The Seminar will include an overview of principles of lean operations in order to:

- Improve the bottom line
- Reduce regulatory burdens
- Increase overall efficiency of the organizations

The instructor is Mr. Thomas Vinson.
