The United States Department of Agriculture Natural Resources Conservation Service (“NRCS”) announced the scheduling of a Conservation Innovation Grants webinar.

The webinar is scheduled for January 11th.

The webinar is related to NRCS’s projected investment of $10 million in conservation innovation grants for what it describes as innovative conservation strategies and technologies in three focused areas. Such focused areas include:

- Grazing Lands
- Organic Agricultural Systems
- Soil Health

NRCS states that its staff will provide information on the program during the January 11th webinar.
