U.S. Environmental Protection Agency/Arkansas Department of Environmental Quality Public Meeting – Crossett, Arkansas: Proposed Settlement with Georgia-Pacific

02/07/2019

The United States Environmental Protection Agency (“EPA”) issued a February 6th news release stating that a joint public meeting will be held with the Arkansas Department of Environmental Quality (“ADEQ”) to discuss a proposed settlement with Georgia-Pacific regarding facilities in Crossett, Arkansas.

The settlement addresses alleged Clean Air Act violations by Georgia-Pacific. (See previous post here.)

EPA states that representatives from the federal agency, ADEQ, and Georgia-Pacific will attend. The attendees will discuss both the settlement and how to submit comments.

EPA, along with ADEQ and Georgia-Pacific had previously entered into a proposed settlement addressing alleged Clean Air Act violations. Such violations are alleged to have involved:

- Section 111 of the Clean Air Act New Source Performance Standards
- Section 112 National Emission Standards for Hazardous Air Pollutants
- Chemical and Accident Provisions for Air Programs

The meeting will be held on February 7th at 6:00 p.m. at the Crossett Middle School.
