

KEEP CALM
AND PRESERVE
ON

Preservation Conversations: ARDOT and GIS Technology, Mapping Historic Resources by Gina Hopkins

Join us to learn more about mapping historic buildings and other resources.

When: September 10, 2020

Time: 6:00 pm

Where: Virtual Zoom and YouTube Live event.

Please RSVP to get the Zoom link. It will be e-mailed to you 24 hours prior to the event.

Need instructions on how to find us on YouTube Live, or how to use Zoom? Click here.

Questions? Call 501-371-0075 ext. 3 or email qqa@quapaw.com

Note: Zoom links will be emailed no later than 24 hours prior to the event. Please keep an eye on your email box for a message from Central Arkansas Tickets, which will include the Zoom link and YouTube live instructions.

Gina Hopkins is a Geographic Information Systems (GIS) Specialist who works with ARDOT to map potential environmental and cultural impacts of proposed transportation projects. She believes that by working collaboratively we can preserve our history and our environment, while also modernizing our economy and transportation systems. Gina has 12+ years of experience working as a GIS specialist, has previously worked for the US Forest Service & Arkansas Department of Environmental Quality, and holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Wildlife Ecology & Management from Arkansas State University in Jonesboro.

More about the ArDOT Environmental Division

The Environmental Division at ArDOT consists of several sections focusing on various environmental disciplines. These sections include Cultural Resources (historical and archaeological areas), Natural Resources (hydrology, flora, and fauna), Public Involvement (information dissemination to the public on projects), Assessments (NEPA documentation compilation), and Geographic Information Systems (data stewards and map compilation).

Sponsored by the Quapaw Nation

Did you know? You can also watch most of our Preservation Conversations on our Youtube channel! Click here to see our channel.

RSVP for the September 10 Virtual Preservation Conversations

